Quad-Cities prepare for draft registration

By presidential proclamation, following public debate and with the approval of the Congress, President Jimmy Carter has directed a resumption of registration with the Selective Service System.

During the period of July 21 through Aug. 1, all men born in 1960 and 1961 are required to register at their post office. The registration program will be spread out over two weeks—the first week for those born in 1960, and the second week for those born in 1961.

In addition, registration day will depend on one's birth month. People born in January, February or March will register on Monday; those born in April, May or June will register on Tuesday; and so on.

Friday of each of the two weeks will be a makeup day.

Starting in January 1981, young men born in 1962 will register, and thereafter men will register when they turn eighteen.

Gerald Rosenberg, supervisor at the Granite City Post Office who has been designated supervisor of the registration procedure said, "I expect everything to go very smoothly. I first took some instruction and training on procedures and then met with the postmasters of Madison, Venice and Brooklyn and reviewed the program thoroughly with them.

"The local postmasters have, in turn, trained their window clerks. The instructions on filling out the form, which is very simple, are posted in the lobby. I would guess that a person following the instructions could be in and out of their local post offices in a matter of five minutes. The whole procedure should be very easy for everyone," Rosenberg said.

Registration is regarded as a simple process. The registrant will go to any U.S. post office and fill out a registration form with his name, address, telephone number, Social Security number, and date of birth.

These cards will be sent to Internal Revenue Service centers for keypunching; then, the information will be entered into Selective Service System computers.

Approximately 90 days after registration, each registrant will be mailed an acknowledgement letter, which will include the information entered in the system.

If the data is inaccurate, the correct information is to be entered on an enclosed change of information form and mailed back to Selective Service.

GC man, 22, slain by thrown knife

James Naylor, 22, of 2315 Illinois Ave., was fatally stabbed by a knife thrown at his back during a disagreement in the 2200 block of Lee Avenue at 11:45 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. Naylor was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center from 12:02 to 12:37 a.m. Friday, but doctors were unable to revive him. He never regained consciousness after being injured, authorities said.

Arrested in connection with the fatal incident are John Arnett, 19, and J.B. Hayes Jr., 18, both of 2204 Lee Ave. Arnett is charged with murder and conspiracy and Hayes is charged with murder. Another teen was arrested after the incident, but has been released pending further investigation.

Witnesses told police that Mr. Naylor accompanied Eddie and Susan Lance to the 19th Hole Tavern, 24th Street and Washington Avenue, earlier Thursday night, and while they were walking to the tavern, they passed Arnett, who allegedly threatened Mr. Naylor.

Words were exchanged, but there was no fight at that time, police believe. Mr. Naylor and the Lances continued to the tavern, where they received a telephone call from Mr. Lance's mother, who said another man (not Arnett) was threatening her and saying he would kill Mr. Naylor. The reason for his comments has not been determined and that man is not among those who have been charged, investigators said.

The Lances and Mr. Naylor left the tavern and went to the mother's home, where they found Arnett, allegedly swinging a wooden cork ball bat around. Lance was able to take the bat from him, threw it across the street and struck Arnett about two times, knocking him down and bloodying Arnett's nose, police were told.

Arnett and a young man who was

It is alleged the three men displayed knives and words between Mr. Naylor, Lance, Arnett, Hayes and the other young man were exchanged. As a fight was about to erupt, a woman residing nearby came outside to try and stop it, witnesses said.

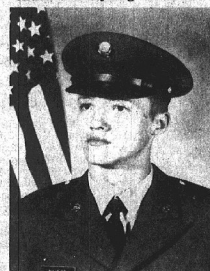

She grabbed Mr. Naylor by an arm, turned him toward the Lance home and was ordering him to go inside when someone threw one of the butcher knives from about 10 feet away and it stuck in the lower right part of Mr. Naylor's back, police were told. He suffered a deep 15-inch cut, an autopsy showed.

The three with the knives then ran from the scene, according to witnesses. Mr. Naylor was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Recovered at the scene of the fatal wounding were seven knives. The cork ball bat was recovered from the south side of 2214 Lee Ave. It had blood on it, officers said, but the origin of the blood is not known. It is suspected the blood may be from Arnett's bloody nose or from a cut to a finger he received sometime during the night's altercation, investigators added.

The three men who allegedly brought the knives to the scene were located a short time later and were arrested, pending investigation. One was released at 2:30 a.m. Friday, but was picked up again at 4 a.m., when questioning of the others brought about new questions for the one who had been with him at the time left and investigators believe they went to Arnett's home where they got Hayes and the three then allegedly armed themselves with seven butcher knives, ranging in length from 10 to 14 inches. Each had at least two knives when they went back to Lance's house, about 10 minutes after the first altercation, officers contend.

Reject Maryville Rd. permit plea

By GARY SCHNEIDER

The Granite City Council Tuesday night will be asked to keep Maryville Road, south of Colonial Bank, zoned for residential purposes by rejecting a request that it be zoned C-1 for commercial use.

The city's Plan Commission held a public hearing in the council's chambers in city hall Thursday afternoon and issued a unanimous recommendation that commercial zoning for property in the 300 block of Maryville Road be denied.

Plan Commission Chairman Dave Morgan concluded at the end of the meeting, "We are going to have trouble with Maryville Road from now on. We need one good plan for developing Maryville Road."

"To allow one (lot to be zoned for commercial use) would be to open Pandora's Box for another Namecki Road," Morgan concluded.

The city has consistently rejected commercial zoning for lots on the east side of Maryville Road from the south edge of the bank property to the area of Parkway School. Because residents along the west side of the street are strongly opposed to increased traffic, noise and litter which a commercial area could create.

Privately, several city planners agree that Maryville Road would be a prime stretch for satisfying of future commercial growth in the city. Other prime stretches, which also have active and vocal opponents to commercial encroachment, include Johnson and Pontoon roads.

However, the Plan Commission members voted unanimously Thursday afternoon to recommend that the area remain zoned for residential use, at this time, despite a plea for the church which owns about 1.5 acres along the road that the land cannot be sold for residential development.

Sebe S. Morgan, an elder with the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, who said he oversees 10 churches in the St. Louis area, told

Smith offer expires today

Dissension in the ranks of United Auto Workers Union Local 1715 which has been on strike at the A.O. Smith auto frames plant since April 8 was reported mounting today as the deadline for action on a proposed new working agreement drew near.

Some reports said that a sizeable number of the 850 UAW workers now on strike are objecting to the failure of leaders to permit a membership vote on a "final offer" made by the company June 25 entailing wage and benefit increases of $4.10 per hour over a three-year contract period.

At the time the offer was made by A.O. Smith negotiators in a meeting with union leaders and Federal Mediation Service representatives in St. Louis, the company set today, July 14, as the deadline for acceptance of the offer and settlement of the strike.

If the proposal was not accepted by the deadline, the offer would be withdrawn, the company said.

Paul Kelly, plant manager, told the Press-Record this morning that he has received no notice of action on the contract terms, or notice of a membership meeting call to discuss the proposal.

At the same time, a special committee of Quad-City officials and civic leaders to work with the company and the union in their efforts to resolve the dispute, issued a statement in which it expressed concern over the future of the plant.

Kelly said this morning that the company is still holding to its deadline

VAN POOL DRIVER Ron Scholebo and son, Jeffrey, 10, show off the 15-passenger van, provided by McDonnell Douglas to transport Mitchell area workers to the firm's St. Louis County plant. It is the first one in this area. Riders will pay between $7.50 and $8 per week for the 54-mile roundtrip daily drive. But the big factor is the saving of thousands of gallons of gasoline. Forty-eight similar vans now are in operation.

Van-pool travel plan serves area employees at St. Louis aircraft plant

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

of the Press-Record

"Everyone is very happy riding in the van and it sure saves gasoline costs and wear and tear on your own vehicle," Ron Scholebo of St. Thomas Road said, referring to the first company-sponsored van pool from Granite City to McDonnell Douglas Corp. in St. Louis County.

The inaugural run from the local community was made last week after Scholebo took delivery on July 3 of a brand new 15-passenger Dodge van, furnished by McDonnell Douglas.

The vehicle is equipped with double air conditioning—heating units at the front and along both sides, plus an AM-FM radio.

Prior to last week, Scholebo was driving to work in a four-man car pool, spending an average of $6 for gasoline for driving his personal auto two days per week.

"That's not counting maintenance on my own car, insurance expense and wear and tear on the driver and the vehicle," Scholebo said.

"Besides that, the van pool has taken at least four private vehicles off the parking lot and highway," he added.

Because roundtrip mileage on the new vehicle had not been computed precisely enough on Thursday to give a specific total, cost to riders in the van pool from here had not yet been determined.

It is known, however, the riding fee will range between $7.50 and $8 per week for the individual rider, the van operator said.

The aircraft manufacturing firm initiated the van pooling idea last year, through a federally sponsored program, to encourage employees to save gasoline by utilizing eight 15-passenger vans instead of driving their own cars to the plant.

The first eight vans were purchased with a 80 percent, interest-free government loan.

Women graduate as apprentice operators of heavy equipment

By MARY BRASE

"Thank God for July 3." The tiny blackboard hanging at the far end of the used trailer half-filled with scuffed desks and leftovers from lunch tells the story for the women inside as they wipe the hot July dust from their sunburned arms and faces.

It is quitting time and they have parked the procession of dozers and blades with lives taller than they are along the bluff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

One more day and the only all-women training class of operating engineers in the nation will have graduated. The diploma is an apprentice card from Local 520 in Granite City that will put them in the driver's seat of a bulldozer or a scraper or any other piece of heavy equipment on a construction job.

The pay is 85 percent of a journeyman's wage — $11.41 an hour after the first of August.

"They told us it couldn't be done," said instructor Ted Brown.

The man who began his teaching three years ago with the first apprentice class at the SIUE site for the local's Joint Apprenticeship and Training Committee said the classes have always had more men than women because "they" said it had to be done that way.

"This class proves it doesn't," he is convinced.

Along with the jokes and the teasing, the women have also learned the complete operation, from dipping their own oil sticks and filling the gasoline tanks before they turn on the key, to greasing and repairing and steam cleaning when the job is done.

"That steam cleaning is a trip," a woman knowingly confides as she drops first one heavy boot and then the other to the trailer floor. "It is monotonous. I think a lot of pressure is coming out, and it just cleans a little bit better."

Before she can finish the lumpy, a second woman with a scratch over her left eye just under her hard hat begins. "I got attacked by a tree," she explains. "I went down in a hole to play in the mud, and when I came up...

Despite the trees, Beverly Williams, "loves driving" and being able to do it. "At first it seemed strange and I wondered how they operated. But I found out, and it is not too hard."

She said the trick is knowing how to dig. "If you dig too far, it cuts gullies. If it is too shallow, it won't pick up and you waste time. We all dug gullies the first couple of weeks," she admitted, "but we know how to smooth the ground out now." And despite the stereotype of women drivers, "there haven't been any accidents," she said, with pride.

Mrs. Williams was an operator at Olin Corp. five years but never worked on heavy equipment. She had been out of work a year before she applied for the training program.

She was one of 28 accepted from 366 applications. "It pays a lot more," she said of her reason.

"My husband works on construction, and he kind of 'worried,' she admitted. He warned her it would be tough and advised her not to get too close to the guys on the job.

"If you let them run over you, they will," he told her. With the women, that has not been a problem, Brown said. They rotate the work and share the cleanup and the water jug.

"They even cook lunch together," he said, remembering the aroma of a particular pot luck.

The only real problem has been the stick shifts on some of the older pieces of equipment, but the men have the same problem with gears, he said.

"I spent an hour the first week with each woman, just getting used to the different pieces of machinery. But the first few days they all killed the motors quite a few times before they got the hang of it," he said.

In January, all 10 graduates will come back to school to learn repair work, attending 72 hours of night classes each semester of the three-year program sponsored by the Department of Transportation. Next summer, they will learn cranes.

"How long does it take to learn to drive a crane?" "I don't know," Brown tells the woman. "I haven't learned completely myself yet. And when you think you know it, it is time to get out of it."

But the trainer says he plans to stay, at least through the graduation lunch at the union hall the next day.

After six weeks on the job, he says the women "have it made" because they learned to do it and do it right. The only thing left is to "get out there and give the man a day's work."

"And get a good night's sleep," he calls out the trailer door after them. "We're really going to work tomorrow. We've got scrapers and dozers to steam and..."

Most veterans going to college, doing well

Veterans Administration records show Vietnam era veterans were the best educated group of servicemen ever to serve in the armed forces. On a percentage basis, more had high school educations than in any other war.

Continuing this trend, their college achievements under the GI Bill show that they are reaching higher standards than their non-veteran counterparts.

The example of what Illinois veterans are doing academically, Donald Ramsey, director of the VA regional office in Chicago, says, "is at Belleville Area College."

Based on spring semester academic performance, of the 171 full-time veterans enrolled, 60 percent, or 103 veterans, made high honors and the dean's list. "Of the 1,651 full-time non-veteran students, 49 percent, or 725 students, made high honors and the dean's list," Ramsey said he expects this summer's enrollment of veterans in Illinois colleges to exceed the same period last year.

"Many veterans are rushing to complete their educations before the delimiting date of 10 years from date of discharge," he said.

This summer marks the 36th anniversary of the GI Bill. Over 12 million veterans have used it for some kind of training.

Vietnam veterans have used the bill more than any other group — 67 percent. Fifty percent of World War II veterans took advantage of the GI Bill, and 48 percent of the Korean veterans.

Many job openings for nurses

With nearly 600 openings for registered nurses at present, the Hospital Personnel Management Association of Greater St. Louis expects that number to grow, potentially creating a shortage which could affect all who need health care.

To help fill the need for nurses, a program to return inactive nurses to the work force has been developed by the association in conjunction with the Council of Directors of Nursing Service, the St. Louis Community College, Maryville College and Jefferson College.

The program features a Nursing Career Update '80 Fair to be held at the Famous-Barr auditorium in Clayton on Wednesday between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

At the fair, inactive nurses will meet nursing instructors who have taught or will teach refresher courses, nurses who have already returned to the field through refresher courses, and personnel directors from various hospitals in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Nurses will also learn about refresher courses that will be offered at area junior colleges and at Jefferson College and Maryville College.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center's employment office is actively participating and is offering transportation to the Nursing Career Fair for interested area residents.

To arrange for transportation or for more information about the program, nurses may call the employment office at SEMC at 798-3253, a spokesman said.

Report suggests use of Dunbar as service center

The Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area and Regional Plan Commission has suggested that the Dunbar School, planned for use by Madison School District 12, be used as a social service outreach center to serve the Madison-Venice area.

The suggestion is made in a study by SWIMPAC of the Dunbar School complex which notes that the annex is in such a deteriorated condition that it should be demolished. The study was requested and is being paid for by the cities of Venice and Madison and the Madison School District.

A summary section of the report, which is expected to be discussed by the Madison Board of Education in its next meeting, says:

Based upon a preliminary investigation and survey of the physical condition of the Dunbar School complex, the structure is in safe condition and if maintained will support other uses for many years. The annex, as previously stated is in such a deteriorated state that it should be demolished. If a building remains vacant for any length of time the process of deterioration is accelerated. Non-use of the internal systems and utilities causes these systems to rapidly deteriorate. Vacant buildings are targets for vandalism. There is already some evidence of vandalism at the school.

A vacant school building is a potential fire hazard and a potential danger to the surrounding neighborhood. If the Dunbar School is to be recycled, it is crucial that the school district make a decision on the disposition of the facility immediately.

Considering the location, the needs of the residents in the Madison-Venice area, and the necessity to locate an occupant for the school, the most feasible alternative is to recycle the facility into a social service outreach center.

Many of the social service needs of the residents cannot be met, as there are no existing facilities within the communities.

Recent attempts by the School District to sell the property have not proven successful. The location of the school prohibits any type of successful commercial use.

Many school districts within Illinois have abandoned facilities in response to declining enrollments. A survey of recycled schools in Illinois reveals that over half the recycled schools have remained under school district ownership, and leased to other organizations.

This allows school districts to reuse the schools at some future date in the event that enrollment increases. In the interim, the building is being used and maintained for a much-needed public service.

The report indicates that abandonment of public school buildings has become a serious problem for school districts, municipalities and the communities which are forced to accommodate and support these deteriorating structures.

School closures and resulting abandoned buildings are a response to declining enrollments.

Current enrollment capacity in Madison County is 75,367 pupils while actual 1979 enrollment was only 52,795.

Dunbar school complex consists of the original school building constructed in 1931 and consists of basement and two floors of classrooms and an auditorium.

The annex, built in 1946, is a separate one-story building in the rear of the school. A one-story addition with full basement was added to the main school building in 1966.

Four potential uses suggested in the study are: low-income housing, elderly housing, community service center and commercial.

There has been interest from several sources, including the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission (EOC), the Granite City YMCA, and Urban League, to convert the Dunbar School complex into a multi-purpose community service center.

Many social service agencies, according to the study, are scattered throughout Madison and St. Clair Counties, making it difficult to serve needy clients.

A consolidation of agencies to an outreach center would benefit the clients as well as improve the efficiency of the agencies. Duplication of similar efforts can be reduced by increased communication between agencies according to SWIMPAC.

The report states the 'Y' is interested in operating an outreach program at Dunbar. The 'Y' would be interested in the auditorium-gymnasium for sports activities and possibly a few classrooms for craft classes, the report noted.

EOC has been leasing portions of the school for its headstart program. EOC, according to the SWIMPAC report, would like to expand its Headstart Program and add other programs to be operated from the school.

The programs would include: Home Day Care, Weatherization, Tri-County Service Center, Well-Baby Clinic, Working Seniors and Treasure House programs.

In addition to EOC programs, the Urban League, Mental Health, United Way and Coordinated Youth agencies are interested in establishing outreach offices and programs at Dunbar.

NEWLY ASSIGNED HERE are Captains Donald and Barbara Salisbury, officers in charge of the Salvation Army program based in Granite City. They served in Milwaukee prior to arriving here this month. Captains Elmer and Sandra Trapp now are on duty in Hannibal, Mo.

State's cash balance stable

Comptroller Roland W. Burris said this week that the state ended the 1980 fiscal year with an available balance of $483 million in the General Funds — technically the highest in history — though $93 million of that amount has been transferred (on July 2) to the Personal Property Tax Replacement Fund for eventual distribution to Illinois local governments.

The actual working balance as the state begins the new fiscal year is $390 million, cushioned further by an additional $148 million in 10 state special funds.

"Had these funds been fully committed as they have been, the state would have closed the 1980 fiscal year with $531 million in its General Funds," Burris said. Governor James R. Thompson has disagreed with the comptroller's view that the special funds should be transferred.

Burris said that, in his opinion, "the public should be made aware of the surpluses in the 10 special funds to provide a more accurate picture of state finances and to avoid any impression that the state is hoarding reserves."

Looking at the new Corporate Personal Property Replacement tax at the fiscal year's end, Comptroller Burris said the levy generated $437 million in 1979-80, but state expenditures were up 15.3 percent or $1,004,000,000.

The past year's revenue totaled $7,878,000,000 and spending amounted to $7,788,000,000.

With the $93 million received before the fiscal year ended and then transferred afterward, the working balance remains the same as a year ago, $390 million.

Immunizations aid students

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

The School Code of Illinois requires that all students in all public, private and parochial schools be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles and rubella.

All students also must have physical examinations. The only exceptions to these requirements may be granted for medical or religious reasons.

School authorities must show, by Oct. 15, that at least 80 percent of their pupils meet the vaccination and physical exam requirements.

Otherwise, the Nov. 22 state aid payment to the school district will be reduced by 10 percent. Ten percent of each monthly payment thereafter will be withheld until the requirements are met.

Your children will be denied admission to classes if they do not have their immunization shots and physical exams, unless there is a medical or religious exception.

If for some reason your child cannot complete the full series of immunization shots it will be necessary for you to submit to the school authorities a written statement, signed by a physician, indicating the medical problem or stating when the remaining shots will be given.

If your objection to the immunization and examination is based on religious grounds, your objection must be founded on a religious teaching or practice. A written, signed statement detailing your objection must be presented to the school authorities.

In many parts of the state, health departments provide immunization services and some also provide physical examinations.

If you live in an area where there is no health department, contact the Illinois Department of Public Health, Division of Disease Control, 535 W. Jefferson, Springfield 62761. The department will see that the needed immunizations are made available to your child.

If you need more information about the school code requirements, contact the state health department at the above address.

Annual church picnic July 20

Nameoki United Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road, is planning a "Casual Sunday" theme for Sunday, July 20, when the congregation will hold its traditional midsummer picnic.

Mrs. Mindi Haughey, president of the board of deacons, said among the picnic events will be a "what ever" happened to... segment, with "baby" photographs of church members displayed and those attending being asked to identify them.

Services during the summer months are held at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, with church school and a coffee hour starting at 9:30 a.m.

Communion will be offered this Sunday morning. The theme will be "Have Trodden the Wine Press Alone."

Temporary steel price reductions

National Steel Corp. said Friday it has begun "temporary, selective allowances"—discounts on the price of flat-rolled steel products in Midwestern markets.

Various steelmakers last week announced temporary price cuts on various products. Most cited higher operating costs and stressed they are not reducing their official list prices.

U. S. Steel and Republic Steel announced that their discounts, restoring March price levels, will last only through this year's third quarter.

Recessionary slumps in auto sales, housing and other portions of the economy have severely affected steel orders, prompting the temporary price cuts.

Goal of the cuts is to attract a volume of business sufficient to keep their plant staffs active while awaiting a fall or winter upturn in orders.

Disturbances on Adams daughter's former boyfriend started driving behind their car very closely, tailgating her car.

Mrs. Kelley said she turned into the 1900 block of Adams Street, not realizing it was a dead-end street due to construction of the overpass at the other end. When she attempted to turn around in a driveway, the man allegedly parked his car behind her car, so she could not get out of the driveway. She went inside a house nearby and called police while the man allegedly tore the CB antenna from her car and broke it.

He then backed his car up to let her car out of the driveway and when she started to drive away, while the car was barely moving, he allegedly jumped in front of the auto, which bumped his right shin, police were told.

The man then pretended to be in severe pain and a Granite City ambulance was called to take him to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was treated and released. Police gave the woman complaint forms to fill out, should she decide to prosecute.

A 24-year-old Delmar Avenue man was slightly injured when he was struck by a car in the 1900 block of Adams Street, but the driver of the auto and witnesses allege the man appeared to have jumped in front of the moving car intentionally.

Alice M. Kelley, Cahokia, said she and her daughter were driving when one of her

The Plan Commission that the church would like to sell the 1.5 acres it purchased in 1970, but said the land is too valuable to be sold for residential development.

Plans to construct a church on the site were abandoned when Maryville Road was widened. The church and recent rezonings made it clear the area would soon be commercial. Subsequent attempts to sell the property through a real estate broker were unsuccessful and the broker told church officials that the property value had risen to the point where it could not be sold at market value and used profitably for a residential development, Morgan said.

Developer Henry Ross offered to purchase the property from the church, but only if it was rezoned for construction of an office building, the church elder explained. Ross has purchased an option on the property but it carries the stipulation that the sale cannot be consummated until the property is zoned C-1 for commercial use, he added.

Last summer, Ross sought commercial zoning for construction of a Happy Joe's Restaurant. It was the same area. A wave of opposition by residents, represented by Alderman Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward, was successful in getting the Plan Commission and the council to reject the rezoning request.

Petitions listing 261 names of nearby residents opposing the rezoning were presented at the on-site public hearing on the Happy Joe's request. Happy Joe's subsequently moved into an existing commercial building in the Shopping Center, where it now operates.

Among those who spoke against the latest rezoning effort at Thursday's Plan Commission hearing were Mrs. Janet Wilson, 117 Riviera Drive, who presented the commission with petitions bearing 176 signatures of Holiday Gardens and Cloverview area residents opposing the commercial zoning.

She said congestion already is a problem due to the bank, active soccer fields, school traffic and the general traffic on Maryville Road, which serves as a bypass for motorists wishing to avoid Namekiki Road.

Children would cross Pontoon and Maryville Roads to go to school or church already are encountering difficulty crossing, she contended. Mrs. Wilson said the residents feel commercialization of Maryville Road would create more traffic, noise, trash and pollution and would make the Maryville-Pontoon interchange similar to the Namekiki and Johnson roads intersection, "and we all know that that's like on a Friday night," she added.

Drainage is another consideration, she said. There are no sewers serving the east side of Maryville Road and the cheapest way to build sewers there would be to tunnel under Maryville Road, at a cost of about $18,000, and hook into the sewers serving Holiday Gardens.

The sewers there already are inadequate, she contended, noting that some residents have had to connect the drain holes in their basements closed to keep water from backing up into the basements.

Also, she said, Maryville Road now covers with water during periods of heavy rain and blacktopping a lot for an office building would add to the runoff problem.

She also said the residents fear C-1 zoning for that area, since nearly all types of commercial businesses can operate under C-1 zoning, including taverns.

Alderman Bowler noted that once commercial zoning is granted by the city to one parcel of property, the council will overturn any subsequent denials as being prejudicial. "Once you open a door, the council will find it is discriminating to deny future requests," he warned.

"People want it (Maryville Road) to remain as it originally intended, a residential area. The Sixth and Seventh wards have continually had to battle this problem—people moving away from commercial areas."

"We need more areas to be left alone. We need to have the Plan Commission tell them where their areas for business," he concluded.

Plan Commission Chairman David Morgan agreed with Bowler and explained to the persons in the audience that the city has never granted commercial zoning along that portion of Maryville Road. When the lot containing National Bank and a small commercial parcel at the rear of the bank's parking lot (not touching Maryville Road) were annexed to the county, they had to be annexed with the zoning county already had given the parcels, which was commercial.

Bowler said the sympathies with the church, but noted the church purchased the property for speculation and could sell it at a price which would make residential development impractical. Mrs. Jean Beatty also spoke against the rezoning, saying she is afraid a commercial area on the east side of Maryville Road will decrease the values of homes on the west side and would cause many people to move away from Granite City.

Bowler said he would take the petitions and the Plan Commission's recommendation to the city council, which meets tomorrow at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The city council will have the final decision whether the request should be approved or denied, since the Plan Commission acts only as an advisory body for the city council.

were selected for military service. Among these reforms were the abolition of a number of deferment categories, a change in the order in which men were called, and the introduction of random selection, commonly referred to as the lottery.

In April 1970, President Richard Nixon announced an executive order prohibiting the granting of any new occupational, agricultural or paternity deferments.

The 1971 amendments to the Military Selective Service Act abolished new deferments for college students and apprentices. In all cases, persons who were registered at the time the amendments were allowed to keep their deferments for as long as they continued to qualify for them.

A spokesman for the Selective Service spoke at a news conference. "Prior to the reforms, men were drafted oldest first in the order of their birthdays. Such a procedure resulted in a man facing up to seven years of uncertainty as to whether he would be drafted."

"The reforms were designed to minimize this uncertainty, the order in which men were drafted was reversed. Under the new procedures, a man was most likely to be drafted during the calendar year of his 20th birthday."

"If he was not drafted during that year, he moved into a second priority category and continued to drop into lower priority groups each succeeding year until he was over the age of liability for the draft.

"Similarly, the random sequence (lottery) system contributed to reducing man's uncertainty about his likelihood of being drafted."

A man with a high lottery number could face a great deal of assurance that he would not be drafted. One whose lottery number was low might wish to explore voluntary enlistment in the branch of service of his choice, or membership in the Reserves or National Guard.

Lottery numbers were assigned by matching a sequence number drawn from one container with a date of birth drawn from a second container. No one could know when he registered what his lottery number would be because the drawing was held after the registration.

A man registered at 18 and the lottery drawing which applied to him was held during the year he turned 19. If it should become necessary to resort to military service, the procedures which will be followed are the same as those in effect during the last years of the previous draft and the reforms would not institute the absence of widespread deferments, the use of a lottery, and the 20-year-olds first in line to be drafted."

News notes

June 1979. +++

Gov. Thompson approved Friday a 10.4 percent increase in state funds for the education of each elementary or secondary pupil in Illinois. School enrollment is declining by about three percent each year, statewide, he noted.

Secretary of State Alan Dixon plans to expand the 7-30,950 set on Aug. 9, 1979, was extended on Tuesday, July 8, with a total of 40,327.91, attributed to extensive use of air-conditioners due to the severe heat wave.

Gov. James R. Thompson has been sent legislation raising the state's 16.66 percent interest rate ceiling to 21.46 percent, but auto buyers now can obtain loans for about 14.45 percent.

Equalized per-student costs at state universities are the goal of the Illinois Board of Higher Education. Last week voted to recommend fewer state tax dollars for those schools with relatively high expenditures per student. SIU Chancellor Kenneth Shaw commented that unit cost projections are not perfect, and that it would be a mistake to try to bring university costs statewide into too narrow a range.

Board Member Robert H. said some schools, like the University of Illinois Chicago Circle, operate a valuable but expensive program to help disadvantaged students succeed in college.

Fatalities on Illinois highways in June totaled 175, down from 188 in June 1979. The six-month 1980 figure is 877, up from 844 in January.

members elected in March were seated—Bill Keller of Collinsville, serving by appointment since the death of William S. Freeman of Troy; and Higgins, who had been serving by appointment since 1979. Other members are Homer Huber of Granite City, Willard Flagg of Morris, Joseph Berry of Alton and Earl L. Vagnuinas of Edwardsville.

Harold E. Briggs, regional supervisor of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is secretary of the board.

The Goshen Preservation Alliance on Friday offered to lease the residence and original cellblock of the former Madison County Jail for $1 a year, or to buy the property for $1. An Albert Cessens and Sons subsidiary bid $75,125 for the entire property of the old jail to create a new parking lot.

Leigh Sills of Edwardsville bid $5,000 on the residence and original cellblock and Kamelakhs Excavating and Grading Co. proposed to raze the entire structure for $90,000. The County Board about evenly divided on whether to allow the jail to be preserved or torn down, and may not act on the bids until its August meeting.

Madison County will receive $366 more than it expected in federal revenue sharing during the current fiscal year, County Auditor Arthur Fields said Thursday. Public hearings will be held on proposed uses for the funds.

Illinois American Water Co. customers were asked to conserve water on Friday and on Saturday morning because a pipeline break near the Hunter Packing Co. in East St. Louis had seriously lowered the available water supply.

The Bi-State Agency board voted an additional $50,000 on Friday to continue efforts to keep bus air-conditioners working.

Local area unemployment is being estimated at 13 percent and the statewide jobless projection reached 8.6 percent in June, the worst Illinois figure since the 1930s.

Driver stopped, arrest passenger

Virgil E. Dilbeck, 26, of Cahokia was charged with resisting arrest, obstructing a peace officer and disorderly conduct and a Dupon man was picked up on a warrant following an incident at 1:20 a.m. Sunday.

Told that a warrant was outstanding against the owner of a vehicle parked near the Kirkpatrick Homes, an officer stopped the car at East 23rd Street and Namekiki Road and asked the driver, Thomas L. Bouchard Jr., 28, of Dallas, to follow him to police headquarters.

Bouchard allegedly refused and was handcuffed and placed in a squad car. Dilbeck, a passenger in Bouchard's auto, then began cursing the officer, it was alleged. He was told to leave the area, but refused and was placed under arrest. Dilbeck also declined to get into the squad car and began pushing two officers who were then on the scene, the officers said.

A warrant charging failure to pay in a 1978 case involving criminal damage and on Saturday morning against Bouchard, who was released later on payment of a $50 cash bond.

Killed in Oklahoma

Bobby G. Madewell, 32, of Wood River, a resident of Granite City for more than 30 years, was killed at 6:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 9, on the Will Rogers Turnpike, near Vinita, Okla.

Funeral services are scheduled at 1 p.m. today, July 14, at Mercer Mortuary chapel, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Mr. Madewell was driving a van, pulling a U-Haul trailer, when the accident occurred.

In the van were his wife, Melissa (Oram) Madewell, and their three children, Bobby, 4, Ricky, 3, and Teresa, 1-year-old.

Mrs. Madewell was reported in stable condition Sunday at St. Francis Hospital in Tulsa, Okla., where she was airlifted by the Tulsa Life Flight helicopter from the scene of the crash.

She sustained severe lacerations to the abdomen and fractures of the pelvic area and leg.

The youngsters were not seriously hurt. They were treated for cuts and abrasions at Craig General Hospital in Vinita and released.

Mr. Madewell was pronounced dead at the scene.

He was in the process of moving his family and household furnishings to Muskogee, Okla., where his father, Jake W. Madewell, resides.

The father and son had not seen each other since the son was just a few months old.

The Oklahoma State Police said Mr. Madewell may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

The van and trailer apparently jackknifed and the vehicles skidded about 70 feet, crossing over four traffic lanes and turning over several times before plunging through a bridge railing and landing upside-down on a road below.

The road on which the van rested led to an old dumping ground and a man and woman passing by saw the van and first thought it was an old junked vehicle, police said.

Then the couple heard a woman screaming and saw Mrs. Madewell's head inside. They assisted her and the children out of the wrecked vehicle.

The state police said the van was so heavily loaded it kept the sleeping children from being seriously injured.

Mrs. Madewell had been driving most of the night, as her husband had been released Tuesday from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was a patient a few days for treatment of hepatitis, relatives said.

Mrs. Madewell, who was asleep on the rear seat of the van, had relinquished the driving to her husband just a short time before the accident happened, they have learned.

Mr. Madewell was a carpenter and operated Tony's Carpet Installation of Wood River, formerly of Granite City.

The family had lived in Wood River only a few months but he had recently accepted a job in Muskogee, it was learned.

Mr. Madewell attended Nameoki Grade School and Granite City High School and had served in the U.S. Army.

Previously, he was employed as a department manager at the K-Mart store here.

Beside his wife, three younger children and father, also surviving are two older daughters, Robin Madewell, 14, and Dawn Madewell, 14, both of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Alma Adams and stepfather, Charles Adams, both of Granite City.

His brother, Paul Madewell, lives in Tulsa, Okla., and five sisters, Mrs. Ray (Sharon) Young, Mrs. Jackie Pabst, Miss Tina Adams and Mrs. David (Retha) Owens, all of Granite City; and Mrs. Mark (Kim) Bickenkamp of Litchfield, Ill.

There were reports today that at least 300 striking members of the union have signed a petition asking union leaders to put the offer to a vote, but these could not be confirmed.

The strike involves about 650 A.U.W. members, although A.O. Smith a short time earlier had employed about 1,400 workers. Between 750 and 800 employees were laid off prior to the strike because of cutbacks in the auto industry.

The Smith plant manufactures auto frames for General Motors standard-size vehicles.

Herzing, president of Local 1715, said this morning that no membership meeting has been scheduled, but added that "this thing could be settled in a matter of minutes if we could agree on the 90-day examination term."

Herzing said that the company has refused to reinstate a provision under which men who failed to pass physical examinations after a 90-day layoff would be placed on sick benefits. Without that provision, a worker who failed to pass the examination would be forced to go on social security, he said.

BOBBY MADEWELL

Boy hurt

Steven Falbe, 10, of 2528 Adams St., was injured when his bicycle was struck by the auto of Helen Bergfield, 3005 Ramona Drive, on Benton Street north of Indiana Avenue at 11:40 a.m. Monday.

The driver said she was northbound when the bicycle crossed the street from behind parked cars and she was unable to see the boy until it was too late to avoid skidding into him. He bumped his head on the street and reported he was dazed.

Steven was taken by his mother to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was examined and was released.

repayable in 48 monthly installments.

The concept proved so popular that McDonnell Douglas purchased 22 more vans earlier this year, with the company financing the cost itself, and has since acquired 18 additional vehicles, one of which was assigned to Schobelo.

Under the van-pool program, one employee serves as the driver and collects the transportation fees and handles the normal maintenance of the vehicle.

For this, the driver rides free and also is allowed to utilize the van 100 miles each month for personal use.

McDonnell Douglas pays the van's insurance premiums, maintenance costs and gasoline expenses.

The entire program is set up to be self-supporting.

Initial estimates show that Schobelo drives the van 54 miles from his driveway to work and back.

"The fewer miles we drive the less each rider has to pay, so it pays to reduce the daily mileage as much as possible," he said.

All of his passengers live in the Mitchell or the rural Granite City area and, as a further conservation effort, four of them drive to Donaldson's Cafe in Mitchell, park their own vehicles and are picked up there by Schobelo.

Fortunately for this group, all the riders work in the same area of the plant—Building 27—and, of course, are on the same shift from 3:30 p.m. to 12 midnight.

Schobelo said he wants to start compiling a waiting list of riders. He suggests if any McDonnell Douglas employee wants to get on the list, they should contact him through the aerospace firm's van-pool administrator Larry Villaret.

One space is available on the van right now and others may become vacant, if a current rider's shift is changed or a passenger drops from the pool for other reasons.

Ron's brother, Don Schobelo, who lives on Old Alton Road, is his backup driver.

Should the principal operator become ill or take vacation time, then the relief driver takes over, he explained.

Other vans among the fleet of 48 travel daily to towns in Missouri such as St. Charles, Wentzville, St. Clair and Washington.

In Illinois, the van-pools stretch from Sparta to Highland and Fairview Heights to Cottage Hills.

original eight 12-passenger vans reduced their own workday driving by some 375,000 miles and saved more than 30,000 gallons of gasoline.

And now, there are 48 van-pools on the roads.

Another major energy-saver at McDonnell Douglas' facilities here is a company sponsored "share-the-ride program," which has more than 10,000 participants, or a third of the local workforce.

The company also works with Bi-State to encourage bus service transportation and a bus route to McDonnell Douglas is in effect from Granite City.

Schobelo is pleased with overall performance of the van, which has a sticker price of $13,000.

He's been waiting for No. 34, the vehicle's designated number, since Aug. 28, 1979, and he plans to take good care of his assigned charge.

Just this month, the McDonnell Douglas Spirit, the St. Louis County's plant newspaper, printed the names and phone numbers of 28 drivers who are looking for riders to fill vacancies caused by summer vacations or full-time slots on their routes.

Prospective passengers are asked to contact the van drivers serving their particular area for transportation arrangements.

Former GC man part of Wine District

Wine bottles which were labeled Friday in Augusta, Mo., now identify that region as the first wine district in the United States.

Augusta-like Rhine, named for the Rhine Valley in Germany—now designates a regional wine.

Former Granite City resident Lucien Dressel, a president of Mount Pleasant Wine Co., one of two wineries in the district. The other in Montelle Vineyards.

The U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms named the Missouri River town, population 314, as the first official wine district in the United States and the Western Hemisphere June 20.

Officials say the area was chosen because of its deep glacial soil, sufficient sun for a long ripening season, adequate rainfall and constant air movement between the Missouri River and the bluffs along the river.

Dressel noted that France, Germany and Italy all have designated wine regions, but there were none in the United States before Augusta.

Labels placed on the bottles Friday carried a seal and the words "Augusta, Mo." Bottles designating the district's first official issue will be sold through July 20.

Dressel's mother, Mrs. Muriel J. Dressel, still makes her home in Granite City.

GC Art Guild hosts workshop

A workshop for artists from Troy, Edwardsville, Collinsville and Granite City was held at Central Christian Church, 200 Johnson Road, and sponsored by the Granite City Art Guild.

Mrs. Eva Meadows, president of the guild, added the program was partially funded by the Illinois Arts Council.

Serving as instructor for the informative session was Walter M. Johnson, Professor of Art, Director Visual Arts Emeritus of the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign campus.

Professor Johnson offered lectures on perspective, composition, value, color, framing and matting.

All artists did a value drawing in the morning and in the afternoon created a painting using their choice of medium oil, watercolor or acrylic. They worked from a large, varied still life provided by the program committee.

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the church served luncheon to those enrolled in the one day course.

Tax cut drive is planned in county

James Tobin, president of the National Taxpayers United of Illinois, says the NTU will be taking tax-cut petitions drives to various Downstate counties this month.

Franklin, Madison, Union and Wayne counties have been targeted by the NTU for 25 percent tax-cut initiatives for the November election, he added.

Petitions will be available at a meeting Wednesday, July 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, 1900 Belline, Alton.

Tobin also announced his organization's findings about the finances of Will and Kane counties.

Will characterized Will County as an "overgrown government so inefficient that it can't even spend all the money it grabs from taxpayers' pockets."

He said levies passed by Will County which will be reflected on tax bills coming out in August or September will show an overall increase in taxes of 29 percent over the 1978 rate (reflected on 1979 tax bills).

The largest single increase will be an 86 percent increase for the corporate fund plus a new $69,400 levy for the Will County election fund, he added.

"Whether or not counties and local governments have surpluses, the people want tax-cuts and it's the obligation of local politicians to satisfy the demands of taxpayers."

"The taxpayers will tell politicians how much of the money they can have to spend, not the other way around," Tobin concluded.

Dr. Hendrickson honored

Dr. F. Scott Hendrickson, local dentist, has returned from the Academy of General Dentistry meeting in San Diego, Calif., where he was honored for being president of the Illinois Academy of General Dentistry for 1979-80.

Dr. Hendrickson completed his term in the top state office in June. He was one of 10 Illinois delegates to the national meeting and the only one from downstate Illinois.

There were 200 delegates representing the various states, Canada and the Armed Forces.

Dr. Hendrickson, whose office is at 2955 Madison Ave., is also president of the Madison District Dental Society. The local society covers five counties.

He is a member of the Granite City Optimist Club and a volunteer in the upcoming United Way campaign.

Concern for clean air in national parks

(Illinois Lung Association) Hordes of Americans will hop into their cars this summer and head for our national parks. Protecting these precious millions of acres from encroaching air pollution from cars, power plants, and expanding industrial development is a critical issue.

At the Grand Canyon, it has been impossible at certain times to see the opposite canyon rim because of a haze of pollution.

Cars themselves are a major source of distress in such areas as Yosemite National Park in California, where the surrounding mountain trap car exhaust in the valley below.

The 1977 Clean Air Act amendments mandate that air quality must remain virtually pristine in many national parks. How to accomplish this is a complex problem.

Concerned government agencies have already held workshops on the problem in Denver, Seattle, and Salem, Ore. Actual regulations to restrict pollution will be issued this year.

One of the problems under study is the effect of power plant plumes in the Southwest and their impact on park environs.

Plumes mingle with and worsen regional haze, which is itself caused by polluted air masses that can stretch hundreds of miles and hang over a landscape for long periods.

Sulfur oxides are produced in some metal processing and fuel combustion, and by chemical plants. This pollutant can cut down light from the sun and limit visibility. But that's not all. In combination with moisture and oxygen, sulfur oxides can attack plants and iron and steel structures, and even dissolve marble. And it can irritate the delicate tissues in our lungs.

4 special education scholarships

Teacher Education Scholarships have been issued to recent graduates of Madison County high schools and to Madison County residents. Thirteen applications were submitted by Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools of Madison County, in May, to the Illinois State Board of Education.

Out of 250 issued statewide under Section 30 of the Illinois School Code on the basis of ACT composite scores, four were issued to Madison County.

The recipients and nominees have been notified by Briggs. Applicants are required to certify they will train in the field of special education teaching and that they will teach in the schools of Illinois for at least two of the first four years immediately following graduation.

Applicants not receiving scholarships at this time are still eligible if any of the 250 scholarships issued in Illinois are returned unused.

The four recipients are: Cheryl K. Allen, Madison HS, 1967; Sharon McBride, Edwardsville HS, 1969; Diana L. Walker, Collinsville HS, 1977; Teresa Mathews, Marquette HS, 1978, Alton.

Happy Warriors reunite

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The stories were 40 years old, but the way they were told may have sounded as if they happened yesterday.

And why not? For the people telling them it could have been. The group of 1940 Granite City high school basketball state champs gathered at Madison's St. Mary's Hall, Saturday night to celebrate a common bond.

They were the 1940 Granite City Happy Warriors, and they shared a dreamy retrospect more permanent than the film record of their exploits on the basketball court.

"You don't remember the little things so much. At the time we were fighting so hard to win, we couldn't enjoy it. It was like a dream. That's what you remember," Sam Mouradian said.

Mouradian was a guard 40 years ago. The youngest member of the team. He was 14 when Granite City won the championship.

Now he lives in California, and has been away from his hometown for most of the intervening years.

Saturday night, though, at least for a moment, he got to be 14 again. Webster's Dictionary defines nostalgia as a sentimental yearning for a return to the past. The folks who filled the big hall went beyond that.

For them, the past was recaptured. They paid $10 a ticket to celebrate once again the spirit they shared 40 years ago.

One by one, the players were introduced. Ed Hoff, the former guard, stopped to shake hands with friends in the crowd.

Andy Ertimoff, the forward, dressed in a snappy yellow plaid, waved to the cheering crowd.

Evon Paragshian, the other forward, the joker of the bunch with his ever-present cigar and his arm around his young escort, smiled as the cheers grew.

On and on, each player receiving a huge ovation, until finally they introduced Andy Phillip. The captain.

The crowd came to its feet and the cheers swelled as the 1940 Warriors were together again in front of a hometown crowd.

One now lives in Florida. Another in California. One now hails from Chicago. A few remain in Granite City. It didn't matter, though. Reunited, it's like they were never apart.

They told about George Gages, the center. "He was the protector," Hoff said as ducked behind him.

"It's just that you could get away with more then. Up on the boards and I'd give 'em a little UMPH," Gages explained, demonstrating how he made use of his elbows.

They told stories about how they won using strategy — none of this run-and-gun stuff of today.

"We'd set up our shots. We didn't score much but we won," the assistant coach Leonard Davis said.

And everyone talked about Evon. Especially Evon.

"He would eat cherry pies and bananas a half hour before a game and wonder why he couldn't run up and down the floor," someone said.

"I was just hungry," Evon answered.

"You want to know how dirty Evon was?" someone else asked. "He played varsity ball for three years and never washed his uniform."

Captain Phillip looks back at '40

GRANITE CITY — Andy Phillip stood in the hot gym at the Lincoln Place Recreation Center. He looked around with a fondness in his eyes. He was looking at his hometown.

Phillip, just like most of the rest of the 1940 Granite City High School basketball Warriors who won the state championship, got his start in that gym in Lincoln Place. "We did everything down here," he said. "I think we may have spent more time in here than we did in our own homes."

Phillip should know. He was the leader of the pack back then. The Happy Warriors were a good team without Phillip, with him they were a great team.

Andy Phillip was a rarity for those days. He went on to college and then the National Basketball Association. "I was fortunate," he said modestly. "There were a lot of guys who never got a chance to play any more ball because they had to go out and work or go right into the service. College scholarships for sports weren't given out as much as they are today."

Phillip went to the University of Illinois and became the hub of the famous "Whiz Kids." As a sophomore, Phillip's team went to the NCAA National Tournament. They were "mythical champions" the next season. But they never got a chance to play. The Illinois were broken up because of World War Two. "I was in the Marine Corps," said Phillip. "And I was on two Jims. We got back together again after the war and still had eligibility left. But by then, it was too late."

From college, Phillip went on to the NBA. He played with Chicago and Fort Wayne.

Trying to get Andy Phillip to brag is hard. Despite being one of the true stars of the game in the 1940s and 1950s, you'd never know it. He played in the first five NBA All-Star games ever played. He

"Come on, you're gonna give everyone the wrong idea about me," Evon said.

It went like that. Back and forth. Backslapping, hearty-laughing good time.

Just like old times.

"You know," I took some criticism at one time for having so many Armenians on the team," Davis said. "At one time we had five Armenians on the floor."

"But I didn't even notice it until someone said something about it. When it came to basketball it was Granite City all the way."

probably would have played in seven, but there were no such contests his first two years in the league. He's in the NBA Hall of Fame.

He's now a Supervising Probationary Officer for a county in California in charge of juveniles.

"It's a long trip back to Granite City," he said. "But there are a lot of memories here for me. I try to get back as often as I can, but it's hard."

The main reason Phillip would like to get home is that his parents still live in Lincoln Place.

Phillip praised the organizers of the Lincoln Place Reunion. "It's really fantastic," he said. "My older brother came back. Some of the guys haven't seen each other in 30 or 40 years."

"A lot of water has gone under the bridge in 40 years," he said. "I have a lot of memories about a lot of things. College, the NBA, the war. But I guess some of the best memories are right here in Lincoln Place. We were just like a family."

"We were sort of considered to be the 'other side of the tracks' back then. In fact, Coach (Byron) Rozarth was just about the first to come down here to look for players. We'd schedule games here against teams from out of the area. We got a game scheduled against the high school varsity and they whipped 'em. It was just too long before WE were the varsity."

The Lincoln Place team used to play before standing-room-only crowds in the tiny gym. Later, they did the same at GCHS.

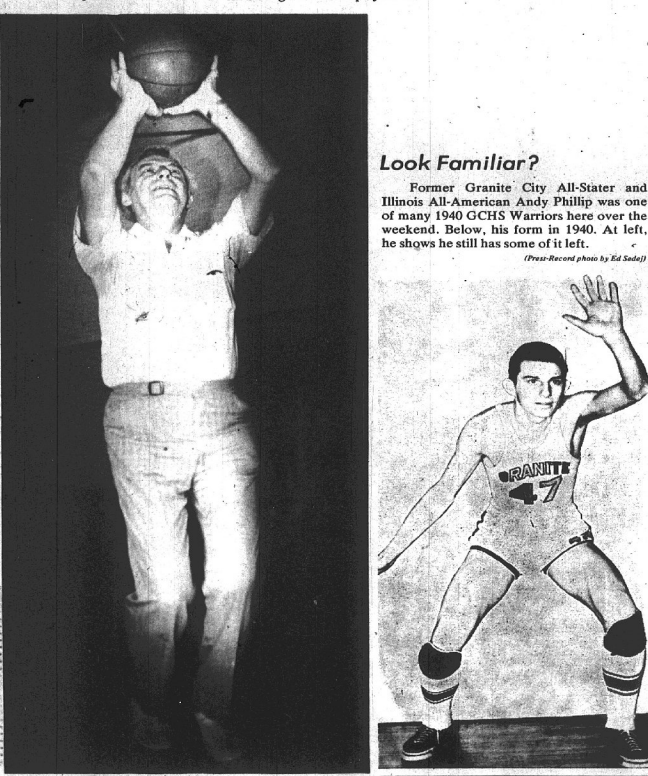

When the Happy Warriors won the state championship, they made banner headlines all across the state. In papers in Chicago, Champaign, Peoria and in the Press-Record. But the members of the team say they really didn't realize what they had done at the time.

"We came back, rode from the high school to Lincoln Place, got off the bus, held up the trophy, said a few words and that was it," said Phillip. "I don't think we knew what we'd done until years later."

Look Familiar?

GRANITE CITY — The way the game started, you would have thought it was going to be one of those days.

The temperature was rising and so was the opponent's score.

Although Tri-City Disposed of Fred Stockham of St. Louis Easily enough 11-6 to open a doubleheader Saturday, the second game was harder to come by.

Some late extra inning heroics from Bob Batey and a clutch base hit off the bat of John Venick completed a doubleheader sweep 10-9. The wins pushed Tri-City's season mark to 20-16.

"I think the big thing for the guys is the 20th win," said Tri-City head coach Eldon Warfield. "It's like a milestone." The seasonal accomplishment turned a hopeless game into an exciting comeback.

Trailing throughout the game, Tri-City found itself in a dead-end situation as its last run at bat came up. Down 9-4 in the bottom of the seventh, Kevin Sykes hoped to get something started when he doubled into the gap. But Tri-City needed more than one runner to have a chance as the following two batters failed to get on. "I told them before our bat in the seventh that they had played terrible," said Warfield. "I wanted to motivate them and did so by asking who was better, them or us? They just let the game get away. Maybe it was too hot to play. The heat may have had a bearing. But I don't think so. That's just an excuse."

Seemingly prolonging the agony of defeat, Kevin Cripps drew a two out walk. Rick Daily then answered with a single and the gap was narrowed by one. A keen eye enabled Mike DeGonia to grab a walk and suddenly the bases were loaded and Tri-City was in a situation that they failed the experience all game. John Linhart stepped to the plate and promptly rapped a base hit, as Tri-City moved to within three as the bases remained filled.

The moment of truth finally unveiled itself as Venick pulled the trigger, driving a shot deep to left-center, clearing the bases. In his attempt to stretch his double into a triple though, he was gunned down at third. "He (Venick) hesitated coming around second," said Warfield. "A runner in that play has to use his own intelligence. It was his own decision and it was a good one. We had just scored three times and they were throwing the ball around. They might have thrown the ball away."

It didn't take Tri-City very long to do Stockham in, as the fire was still burning. Venick, on the mound, held Stockham to a walk in the first extra frame, which was all Tri-City needed. Sykes again ignited the attack with a one out single and reached second when a seal attempt resulted in an error. Batey lined a shot to the fence, his fourth hit of the game and seventh rip of the day. This one was a game winner, as Sykes scored Tri-City's first lead of the contest. "Fred Stockham is not too bad of a team," said Warfield. "They are in first place in the City of St. Louis."

All the troubles for Tri-City began in the opening inning. Mark Clark started on the hill and allowed the bases to load up. He then had the misfortune to throw a pitch into designated hitter Dwayne Anderson's wheel home. Anderson blasted the ball over the fence for a grand slam home run. If a quick four run deficit was not enough, six errors might

"The errors really hurt us," said Warfield. "When your going good, you can say we made some errors and won. If we would have lost, I would have run them until they dropped. I don't care if it is 100 degrees. We didn't play very well, but we came back well."

Even though Tri-City took the opener by a sizeable margin, the road to victory was a bit rocky. In a see-saw contest that changed hands five times, Tri-City gained the lead for the final time in the fifth on a Bob Ford RBI single, scoring Rich Cope. They extended their spread in the sixth, banging out four hits, receiving RBI from Sykes and Daily while scoring four times.

The Tri-City bats were hot, shelling out 15 base hits. Daily highlighted the first game, banging four hits in four trips to the plate. He joined Batey, collecting seven base knocks on the afternoon. "Daily and Batey had just a super day," said Warfield. "DeGonia and Venick were equally as good. It is really going to be hard, with the Allstar game coming up."

Nothing changes in I-C race; McDonald's and Corral split

GRANITE CITY — The scramble for first place in the Inter-city baseball league stalled a little yesterday with the leader idle and chasers treading water.

Maryville retained its hold on the top spot without even dirtying its uniforms, while Corral and McDonald's remained tied, for second after splitting a double header.

McDonald's came from behind to pull out a 6-4 win in the first game, then Corral edged its way through the nitties with a 5-4 victory.

The addition of a win and a loss for both teams brought each season's record to 9-5. Maryville, who had yesterday off, stayed at 7-3, percentage points ahead of the Granite City teams.

If not for a McDonald's fifth inning in which it scored all six of its runs in the first game, Corral might have swept the twin bill.

A controversial play set up the McDonald's rally.

McDonald's Bob Stegome sent a grounder up the middle, but it struck the umpire and rolled toward Corral second baseman Tom Greco.

Greco made a close play at second, but the umpire had ruled the ball dead.

The plate umpire overruled the call, but since no one had seen the play a second, everyone was called safe.

After that, McDonald's unloaded. First Pat Hogan delivered a two-run double, then George Hubert a three-run homer.

The outburst chased Corral's starting pitcher Ken Crawford from the mound, and Randy Lyerla held McDonald's the rest of the way, but Corral couldn't come back.

Steve Doty, McDonald's, starter allowed Corral a run in the first when Greco doubled and Mike Robertson singled him home.

Corral got its remaining three runs in the second when John Krekovich doubled home Jeff Stamper and Dave Hagenbrock homered for two more runs.

In the second game it was Corral that pulled out a win with tie-breaking run in the seventh.

It was a 4-4 heading into the final inning, but with two out Robertson doubled and came home on Hagenbrock's single.

Corral reliever Mike Herstein completed his three and two-thirds innings of work by holding Macdonald's in check in the seventh and preserving a 5-4 win.

Herstein followed Greg Faulkner to the mound in the eighth and allowed only one hit while striking out five.

Corral had scored off McDonald's starter Al Yount in the first when Krekovich homered.

Then in the second it added another run with Doug Rains' single and stolen base preceding Jeff Stamper's RBI single.

In the fifth Stamper scored on Krekovich's single and Robertson drove in Greco.

McDonald's Pat Hagan tripled in the first and scored ahead of Dan Schaus' home run.

Jeff Tretter drove in Jeff Parker in the third giving McDonald's a 3-2 lead.

Jeff MacFarland increased that lead to 4-2 in the fourth when he singled home Stegmeier.

Corral, though came back and eventually won the game in the seventh, and came out of the afternoon with a split.

LINCOLN PLACE — It was yesterday once more this past weekend for members of the 1940 Granite City High School state championship basketball team. They were the honored guests at the Lincoln Place Reunion that began Friday night and LINCOLN PLACE — The clock was turned back here over the weekend. Some 40 years, it was turned back. There they were, riding in a victory parade from Granite City High School to Lincoln Place. With the state basketball championship trophy. Fire engine, band, motorcycles, honking horns.

The 1940 Granite High Warriors. The Happy Warriors. They were happy Sunday.

The Lincoln Place Reunion that began Friday and ended in grand style with the parade, after which some of the members of the championship team went to the gym at the Lincoln Place Center to demonstrate their old form. Others tried to cool off with a cold beer. Other sat under the tent and ate Armenian food with their families. It was just like a family reunion.

There was Evon Paraglan, who now lives in Florida. "We're just having a great time," he said. "I haven't seen some of these guys for almost 40 years. I've seen some from time to time."

Just then, another 1940 Warrior, Ed Hoff, grabbed a microphone on a wagon from the parade. "Evon Paraglan will now give a speech," he laughed. It was 1940 all over again.

Denny Effittoff was the one former teammate that most hadn't seen in 40 years. He now lives near Chicago and is in the construction business. "This is beautiful. All these guys are beautiful. It's going to be hard to say goodbye."

Effittoff said he and his former teammates were a true team. "It held down the scoring a bit," he said. "But we played like a team."

There was John Markarian, still a Granite Cityan. "I was a junior that year (1940)," he said. "And I guess the one thing that sticks out in my mind about the whole season — my whole career — was in that championship game. There were 14 seconds to go in the game, we had just taken the lead (24-22 over Herlin). Coach Bozarth grabbed me and told me to tell the guys that when we got to the midcourt line, to throw the ball straight up into the air as high as we could. By the time it would come down, the game would be over."

"We did it and it was."

Markarian told of the two songs the team loved to sing on bus trips: "Playmates" and "You Are My Sunshine."

There was center George Gages, who also still lives in Granite City. "We could get away with a lot more back then," said Gages, who stands about 6-3. "There was only one ref on the court and there was only a foul called if one of the players involved had the ball. There was none of that away-from-the-ball stuff."

He told of grabbing opponents' shorts when they went up for rebounds. Of grabbing jerseys. And of Wood River.

"Wood River was the big rivalry back then," Gages said. "I mean, the Granite City-Wood River game was it. We used to have some pretty good battles."

"Once, in the middle of a game, I was standing away from the action near the sideline and some fan reached out and hit me on the head with an umbrella."

There was Hoff. Having the time of his life. "I'm not used to all this heat," he said. "I live in Florida."

This will always be home to me, though he said. "Our roots are here. How many places do you know of that would do this for a bunch of guys who graduated from high school 40 years ago?"

The reporter then mentioned something about how nice the reception had been in Lincoln Place.

"It's always been nice down here," said Hoff. "Always."

Start work on new dam's deflector arm

The Mississippi River channel is narrower this week, due to continued work on the replacement lock and dam north of the Quad-Cities.

The contractor for cofferdam construction on Monday put into place four alignment buoys limiting river traffic to the strip of water nearest the Illinois bank, James A. Petersen said. He is chief of the Operations Division of the St. Louis District, Army Corps of Engineers.

This task permits the start of cell construction for a deflector arm in the middle of the river at Mile 200.9 UMR. The contractor will continue with the cofferdam construction until it is complete.

The firm working on the Missouri bank of the Mississippi will continue its dredging operation from Miles 200.7 to 200, discharging on the Missouri bank or through a submerged pipeline to the Illinois bank. The pipeline is marked on each shore and is buoyed to mark safe clearance on each side of the channel.

Petersen said mooring restrictions remain in effect. On the Illinois bank, the construction limits extend from Mile 202.7 to 200.4 and mooring is not allowed.

On the Missouri bank, the construction limits extend from Mile 201.3 to just below power lines at 200.0 and mooring is not allowed. Also restricted from mooring is the dredging contractor's return water discharge, located 500 feet below the powerline crossing at Mile 200 and marked by a buoy.

The official commented, "Information on passing this project can be obtained from Alton Locks and Dam 26 or from the contractors' work boats on the site. Extreme caution must be exercised during the construction activities, and complete cooperation by all vessel operators is needed."

The half-billion dollar lock and dam replacement is expected to require most of the 1980s to complete. The work area is two miles downstream from the present Alton locks and dam.

Community resources fair plans

The Venice-Madison Advisory Committee on mental health and other social concerns met last week at the Venice City Council Chambers.

The committee continued to discuss ideas for projects relating to awareness of community resources.

Plans will be implemented to sponsor a community resource fair. Ideas for this project included having booths at which various organizations and agencies would be represented in addition to distribution of literature regarding resources.

Publicity for the fair in the form of flyers, buttons, and bumper stickers was also discussed.

The committee will contact businesses and organizations regarding donations. The time and place of the fair will be announced at a later date.

The committee plans to hold an election of officers at the next scheduled meeting to be held at Venice City Council Chambers, Monday, July 14, at 5:30 p.m.

Members present were Yolanda M. Washington, James Harrell, Dianne Raliff, Evelyn Echols, Lorraine Turner, Christina Johnice, Helen Jacks, Bernice Savage, and Virginia Hargis.

Annuitants will meet this week

State Sen. Robert Egan, the Chicago Democrat who serves as chairman of the Pension Laws Commission, will be one of the featured speakers at the annual assembly of the State Universities Annuitants' Association Thursday and Friday at Allerton Park near Monticello.

The group has members at SIUE, eight other state universities and the Illinois community colleges.

One of the projects of the association has been investigation of taxation of survivors' insurance benefits by the Internal Revenue Service, a topic vigorously pursued by A. E. Floria, professor emeritus, University of Illinois, and president-elect of the State Universities Annuitants' Association.

Seminar on road crashes with hazardous materials

Emergency response personnel will be offered training in the proper method of dealing with highway accidents involving hazardous materials on Sept. 12 and 13 at Belleville Area College.

Topics to be covered in two seminar sessions include "Recognition of Hazardous Materials" and "Proper Safeguards in Response."

Participants in the 8½-hour programs will be fire, rescue, police, Emergency Services, and Disaster Agency and highway departments in and adjoining St. Clair and Madison counties.

Eugene R. Schlaf of Chicago, who was responsible for developing safe procedures for handling chemical spills during his 38 years with the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad, will be the featured speaker.

Such seminars are provided to the participants through a highway safety grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Traffic Safety. A portion of the fund for the seminars comes from federal allocations to Illinois under the Highway Safety Act of 1965.

Further information concerning the September training is available from Clay Beltman, fire science coordinator at Belleville Area College.

Questions, answers on the July registration

Q. Who is required to register?

A. Young men born in 1960 and 1961. The only persons not required to register are nonimmigrant aliens (for example, members of diplomatic or trade missions and those on student or visitor's visas), members of the active armed forces, and cadets or midshipmen at the service academies. All others are required to register.

Q. Can someone else register for me, or can I pick up a registration form and mail it back later?

A. No to both questions; you must register in person. Q. Who will carry out the registration?

A. Employees of the U.S. Postal Service will carry out the registration. Selective Service will not be providing additional people or opening up state and local offices. Q. I will be out of the country during registration. What should I do?

A. You should register at the nearest American embassy or consulate.

Q. I heard that 19 and 20-year-olds will register this summer, but I won't turn 19 until this fall. Should I wait until my birthday to register?

A. You should register this summer along with everyone else who was born in 1960 and 1961. Your year of birth is the determining factor, not your age when registration takes place.

Q. Why is the president calling only for registration of 19 and 20-year-olds, instead of everyone in the eligible 18-28 age group?

A. Approximately two million men reach age 18 each year. Registering only men born in 1960 and 1961 will provide a pool of four million names, a large enough group to meet the needs of the Defense Department if an emergency should occur.

Q. If it should become necessary to increase the size of this pool, men born before 1960 who are not yet 26 could be required to register. Also, the size of the pool will increase as 18-year-olds begin to register each year. When all men aged 18-28 are registered, there would be a pool of 16 million men who could be subject to the draft in an emergency.

Registering those who will soon pass draft age is not considered a prudent way to spend the taxpayers' money. These men could be required to register at a later time if it should become necessary.

Q. Because of my physical condition, I doubt that the armed forces would accept me. Do I have to register?

A. Yes. Your physical condition has no bearing on the requirement to register. Q. Does a resumption of registration signal the end of the All-Volunteer Force?

A. No. While there are some problems within the All-Volunteer Force (AVF), they do not add up to a "failure" of the concept in calling for registration, the president at the same time reaffirmed his commitment to the AVF.

The armed forces are considered capable, ready, and remain close to authorized strength with volunteers. The major concerns within the AVF are centered on retaining trained and experienced personnel at mid-career, and not in attracting new recruits.

Q. Then why do we need registration?

A. When the AVF was launched, it was never intended that it would stand alone in time of emergency. Should a conflict break out, the armed forces would quickly be augmented by the Reserves and National Guard — and Selective Service would begin sending inductees on to training bases to provide the next level of augmentation and combat replacement.

In fact, in the design of the AVF, it was always contemplated that Selective Service would have ongoing registration.

Q. Why not just go ahead with the revitalization — so that the System can be responsive in an emergency — but not register unless, and until, we need to actually begin drafting people?

A. There are two reasons. One, we would be placing a great deal of reliance upon an untested contingency plan filled with general estimates, various assumptions and, naturally, accompanied by uncertainty. The president wants Selective Service brought on-line so that he does not have to rely on estimates and assumptions.

The other reason involves ensuring fair and equitable treatment for registrants in the event of mobilization. By having registration out of the way, some of the otherwise avoidable chaos and confusion will be eliminated and the adjudication of the claims for exemption or deferment can be handled in a more orderly manner.

Q. If it makes sense to register now, why shouldn't we go ahead and classify and examine?

A. Classifying and examining are expensive, time consuming, and subject to changing physical and personal circumstances.

The process would have to be repeated at mobilization. Little time would be saved by doing it now, and the needs of the Defense Department if an emergency should occur.

Q. How long after I register will it be before I am drafted?

A. This is a call for registration only. It is not a return to the draft. Only Congress has the authority to reinstate the draft, and the president is not seeking that authority at this time.

The purpose of registration is to build a pool of names and addresses of those who could be called in a national emergency.

Selective Service and the draft are still in "standby." No one is being drafted, and the military is still operating under the All-Volunteer Force.

All that has happened is that Selective Service has substituted actual registration for a contingency plan.

Q. Will I have the opportunity to indicate my conscientious objection to war at the time I register?

A. The determination of a person's CO status is a part of the classification process and not of registration. No one is being classified at this time.

However, if you feel strongly about it, matter, you may write "CO" on your registration form. It will have no effect one way or the other — it does not invalidate your registration, nor does it give you a CO classification.

The determination of a registrant's classification is made by the members of his local board. Because the local boards are not in an active status at this time, no action can be taken now on claims for conscientious objector status.

Q. I am opposed to the whole idea of the draft, and do not want to have anything to do with it.

A. Registration does not compromise an individual's right to seek a deferment or exemption from a draft, if a draft is ever needed.

Registration is not a tacit approval of government policy. peacetime registration is intended only to improve overall military readiness, in the event of an emergency.

Participation is an obligation of citizenship, not a political statement.

Since failure to register is a felony violation of the law, with severe potential penalties (up to five years in prison or a $10,000 fine), the government hopes that individuals will feel themselves of other valid, legal and effective means of voicing protest should they feel the need to do so.

Moisture is vital for gardens here

By CHRIS DOLL

High temperatures, high humidity, heavy rains and occasional hail have caused a variety of problems in gardening. Some corrective measures may help, depending on the crop and problem.

Organic mulches (straw, hay, etc.) offer some of the best protection against drought, heat injury, and rain splash.

Occasionally, plants on new straw will suffer reflective sunburn. Weathered straw will not be a problem.

Diseases thrive during warm, humid weather. Thus, bean, potato, tomato, pepper and vine crops may be protected by fungicidal sprays. Areas with heavy rains may have already been infected and protective sprays will be needed for new foliage.

A hail storm opens many wounds in fruits and vegetables. Ideally, a fungicide spray should be applied as soon as possible following the hail injury to prevent rot organisms from growing.

Wind-damaged plants may be pruned to remove broken branches. Leaning trees and plants should be straightened as much as possible if breakage can be prevented. Otherwise, let them grow as is.

Fruit trees that have a hole around the trunk should have the hole filled with soil to coarse sand to prevent further wallowing.

Most fruit and vegetable plants can withstand 100 degree temperatures without injury if sufficient soil moisture is present for normal physiological processes. But either rainfall or irrigation is essential to get the plants through the heat of summer.

Seek more control of use permits in new zoning bill

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Sweeping changes of the zoning laws for Granite City, including careful controls of special use permits, were proposed as the Granite City Plan Commission studied a draft copy of a proposed new zoning ordinance Thursday afternoon.

The 67-page draft ordinance suggests nine zoning categories and Tom Wobbe, senior planner for the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area and Regional Planning Commission (SWIMARPC), suggested that the city consider reducing that number to eight, by combining the C-1 and C-2 commercial categories. "I believe if you drove an average person through a C-1 area and then through a C-2 area, he would not be able to tell the difference," Wobbe said.

The proposed ordinance contains five residential zoning categories, two commercial categories, one business category and one manufacturing category.

Plan Commission members said they feel there should be more commercial classifications, not less. They suggested perhaps seven to 10 zoning categories for commercial businesses, to avoid a situation in which a commercial zoning was granted for a confectionery and years later, the same zoning was used for a service station, tavern or restaurant on the lot.

"We want it clearly spelled out in the zoning ordinance that if we grant zoning for a neighborhood confectionery, they cannot turn around and put a tavern in there," Dave Morgan, chairman of the Plan Commission, told the Press-Record after the meeting.

The Plan Commission and city council avoided rezoning lots commercial for many businesses by issuing special use permits, allowing only one businessman to operate only the stipulated business on the property. When the business closed, the property automatically reverted back to its previous residential zoning, according to Morgan.

However, the program of granting of special use permits solely on the judgment of the Plan Commission or city council drew frequent criticism from those who disagreed with the judgments.

Morgan requested that a new zoning ordinance be prepared eliminating special use permits and "grouping commercial categories which complement each other."

Commission Member Henry Gabriel suggested that all "neighborhood service" businesses, such as confectionaries, barber shops, beauty shops and other businesses people normally do not mind having in a residential neighborhood, be lumped into one commercial zoning category.

Then other types of commercial enterprises could be lumped into compatible categories, so if someone changed from one business to another allowed under the same zoning category, it would not be objectionable to the neighbors, the commission members agreed.

Two innovations in the new ordinance which met with the approval of the commission are the provisions for "home occupations" and "planned unit developments."

HOME OCCUPATIONS
Small businesses in homes can be approved in all residential zoning categories, with the exception of areas zoned R-5 for multi-family dwellings.

However, they must meet certain specifications before a special use permit can be granted. No more than one persons unrelated to the family residing on the premises may be employed. The business may not exceed 25 percent of the floor space of the dwelling and the appearance of the building must remain residential.

Outdoor storage of equipment or material is prohibited and the business may not cause offensive noise, vibration, smoke, dust, odors, heat, glare or electrical interference noticeable beyond the lot lines. Parking also is to be controlled under the proposed ordinance.

PLANNED UNIT GROWTH
A developer who is planning to develop an area with a combination of residential, business or manufacturing uses may "throw out the book" on zoning requirements in creating his site plan.

The Plan Commission and the City Council can may consider the entire planned development, as a whole, for approval or disapproval.

Wobbe said the planned unit development permit idea has proven very successful in several communities, since it enables developers to cut through the mass of "red tape" in zoning if they want to "try something different."

Buildings can be set at angles close to property lines, commercial structures can blend closely with residential units and "new concepts" in laying out complete developments can be tried, using the planned unit development provision.

When the entire development is planned, the city has the option of granting a planned unit development permit and the developer then is bound to follow the plan in constructing the development, Wobbe explained. The overall average density of population to space in such a development may not exceed the density of the usual zoning district limit, he added.

Another bonus of the planned use development is that developers can take advantage of natural topography, scenic features, large trees and historic structures and build around them, without seeking variances in setback requirements, lot size requirements and other zoning demands, he said.

Public hearings before the Plan Commission will be required before any special use permit is issued for planned unit developments or home occupations.

Morgan said he has discovered several problems in the zoning ordinance in a quick reading. Among the exclusions, for which no zoning category has been provided, are taverns, dance places, beauty shops and furniture and appliance stores.

He also expressed a concern that the zoning ordinance, if adopted, will not resolve the situation where the Granite City Council could veto the Plan Commission on many matters, particularly on home occupations.

"We grant these requests according to the new ordinance and then 40 or 50 citizens come before the city council, the council turns the requests down, because objects are voters," Morgan summarized.

Wobbe responded, "Home occupations have always been a difficult problem, but communities using this ordinance have found it workable. Anytime politics comes in, you are not going to have a perfect situation."

PAIR OF ACES WIN. The city of Madison will try a new trash pickup system for 60 days in two of the five wards. After the testing period the city council will decide the value of going citywide or dropping the idea. In order to see in which two wards the trash containers would be used the Aldermen drew lots. Five cars were placed face down the five aldermen drew with "Ace" high card. Fourth Ward Alderman Christ

Costoff, third from left, drew one ace and First Ward Alderman Paul Ashford also drew an ace. In about two weeks the First and Fourth Wards will have a new trash pickup system, at least for a while. From left, are Third Ward Alderman Elmer Smith, holding a five; Fifth Ward Alderman Booker Walton, with a two, and at the far right Second Ward Alderman William Gushoff with a five.

'Hot summer' continues in Kirkpatrick

Disturbances in Kirkpatrick Homes have been continuing since the city council voted 4-2 last week when 22 persons were arrested.

Police have been called on several disturbances in recent days and during one call Friday morning, someone threw two beer bottles at officers. One bottle missed, but the other struck a squad car and smashed, damaging the car's hood.

Police were unable to determine who threw the bottles. The incident happened as police were arresting Robin D. Clutta, 27, of 2133 Ohio Ave., following an accident and a disturbance in the alley behind the 3400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes at 1:30 a.m. Friday.

It is alleged Clutta's auto was eastbound in the alley and Roger Holliday, 26, East St. Louis, was walking east on the edge of the alleyway. Clutta's car allegedly struck Holliday and the auto then skidded about 100 feet to a post.

When police arrived, Clutta allegedly refused to calm down and created a disturbance. Slight force was used to arrest him. He was charged with disorderly conduct, careless driving and driving on a suspended driver's license. The bottles were thrown from among a crowd of spectators during that incident.

Holliday was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was treated for pain to his lower back and he was released last week.

One incident was reported to police Thursday which concerned a beating in the housing project last week. Martin Gaspie of the 1800 block of State Street, alleged another youth struck him with a club and beat him with fists at the Corner Liquor Store, across Namecki Road from Kirkpatrick Homes.

Gaspie said he and his girlfriend were walking past the store when they passed a group of about four or five youths and one made a suggestive remark toward Gaspie's girlfriend and tried to provoke a fight with Gaspie.

Gaspie and the girl walked away and went to 1305 Kirkpatrick Homes, where they were approached by a group of five youths with clubs and all five beat Gaspie with the clubs, police were told. One of the attackers broke his club three times on Gaspie's head and back, he said.

Gaspie, who suffered several bruises, did not report the incident for three days, but decided to report it after one of the youths who beat him was still harassing him, he said.

Also last week, Granite City detectives arrested Jerry Aubuchon, 21, of 4009 Kirkpatrick Homes, on warrants for aggravated assault, criminal damage to property and reckless conduct in connection with the July 4 weekend disturbances near the home of Robin Miller, 407 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Aubuchon was released a short time after his arrest when he posted $1,002 cash bond.

$14 million dental school is planned

Planning funds for permanent facilities for the School of Dental Medicine of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville head the preliminary priority listing of capital budget requests for the 1981-82 fiscal year. The list was submitted by the university to the SIU Board of Trustees here Thursday.

The dental school request is for $977,200 to provide schematic and definitive design and construction documents for a building with 67,103 square feet, estimated to cost $14 million based on current prices.

University officials anticipate requesting construction funds in 1982-83 for the building, which is to be located on the Alton campus of SIUE.

The Board of Trustees approved preliminary 1981-82 capital budget requests totaling $26.9 million for the SIU system, with the understanding that a system-wide priority listing will be approved in September before the requests are submitted to the Illinois Board of Higher Education as part of the system's Resource Allocation and Management Program.

The preliminary plan includes six SIUE projects totaling $2.9 million and 15

SIU at Carbondale projects totaling $20.2 million.

Remodeling the women's gymnasium at a cost of $3.8 million is the No. 1 item on the SIUE list, but the major cost item is remodeling 13 buildings to provide adequate energy conservation measures, for which $11,900,000 is sought.

Other SIUE projects, in the priority order listed by the university, are:

East St. Louis Center remodeling and rehabilitation — $528,800, volatile chemical storage room in the SIUE Science Building and an electronic filter system in the Clinic Building at the Alton campus $85,000.

Instrumental music rehearsal annex to the Communications Building — $232,600.

TEA SET STOLEN
A silver tea service valued at $300 and a clock worth $100 were stolen, in a burglary at the home of Ruth Neth, 2901A Namecki Road, reported at 7:25 p.m. Friday.

Soil removal by SCA is opposed

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has recommended denial of a special use permit to remove soil from Namecki Township property in an M2 general manufacturing district.

Such a permit is sought by Herbert Mueller, executor of the estate of the late Florence Mueller, owner, and SCA Services of Illinois, Inc., represented by Fred E. Arnold, attorney for the purchaser and lessee. The site is north and south of an old road which is located south of Bend Road and east of Highway 203.

The Board of Appeals has recommended that the Madison County Board approve the request of Wilshire Manor, incorporated by Everett G. Steele, to rezone a tract of land from an R-3 one-family residence district to an R-4 single-family residence district.

The Namecki Township tract is at the intersection of Snowbird and Bluebird lanes near Stratford Lane. The appeals panel favors allowing Cornelio Ybarra Jr. to keep and raise four or more dogs, with the stipulation that no more than four dogs exceed four months of age at any one time. He resides at 5217 Lakeview Drive in Chouteau Township.

Five-year mobile home permits are being recommended for James E. Gibson, owner and occupant, at 2003 Sken St., Namecki Township, and R. B. Moran, owner, and Donald G. and Sandra K. Smith, occupants, at the end of Alton Avenue in the Cloverleaf Addition of Namecki Township.

Bachelor degree in accountancy proposed

Several new program requests are included in the Resource Allocation and Management Program (RAMMP) plan for 1982 (July 1981 to June 1982) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees for submission to the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE).

The program proposals include: $30,000 funding request for the certificate program in endodontics, which has received previous approval by the Board of Trustees but which has not been approved by the IBHE; the bachelor of science in accountancy, which also is being resubmitted and for which no funding is sought; and two new programs for which supplemental state funds are requested—certificate program in oral and maxillofacial surgery, $23,000, and bachelor of science with major in home economics, $100,000.

University officials said the proposals being submitted for IBHE approval are accompanied by additional evidence of demand and need for the programs.

The home economics program would be offered in East St. Louis and is designed to serve both those who wish to complete a baccalaureate degree and those who feel the need to obtain work skills. The program would be implemented through a cooperative agreement with State Community College on teaching and shared facilities.

There is no substantial change in the institutional mission section of the RAMMP document, approved by the Board of Trustees two years ago. They said the institutional mission statement continues to accurately express the objectives of SIUE.

The RAMMP document also contains program review information, which includes a brief statement of the review processes at the university, a schedule for instructional and non-instructional academic, and non-academic program evaluations, and the results of program reviews.

TAKING A BREAK in the shade of the Venice underpass, Joe A. Curtin of Ada, Ohio, has covered about 428 miles of his 2,500-mile run to Los Angeles, Calif., where he hopes to star in a movie he wrote, "What Price is the Best," a story about pro-football. He said he hopes to reach Los Angeles by Oct. 1, but notes he is 17 days behind schedule due to ankle problems. No one has purchased the movie but he asserted some producers had expressed an interest.

OUR MARKET ANALYSIS. YOUR HOME'S VALUE BASED ON WISDOM, NOT WHIM.

Knowledge and experience. The two most important factors in pricing your home to sell, at a price that makes it worthwhile. At CENTURY 21 we compare the location, size, condition, and improvements of your property to the price of homes recently sold, those currently for sale, and those homes that did not sell, perhaps because of inflated price tags. What emerges is a competitive price range and a selling price that may pleasantly surprise you. Something far better than an emotional opinion—a professional evaluation based on facts. Call your Neighborhood Professional today for complete information.
